Flour Mill Scheme

A Proposition Which Is Worth Considering.

An experienced mill manager paid a visit to Crossfield on Wednesday. He is on the lookout for a suitable location for the erection of an elevator and flour mill. While here he had an interview with a number of business men and others in reference to the fair prospects for such a mill here.

The scheme as he outlined it would mean the erection of a 20,000 bushel capacity elevator and a flour mill which would make 100 barrels of flour a day. The cost of the scheme would be about $30,000 and he himself would be prepared to take up a portion of the stock in a milling company. If formed, and felt confident that he could interest considerable outside capital as well. He would be pleased to submit his plans to any local parties or others who might wish to take stock in such a project. That the location and future prospects of the district are not excelled by any other point in Western Canada, was the opinion which he expressed and the carrying through of this project would mean an increase in the value of the land for a considerable distance around. We may state that he would be able to mill either hard or soft wheat and to supply a grade of flour which would meet the requirements of the different consumers.

New Survey.

Good Prospects for New Line

The surveyors are now busy going back over the new line which is to run from Tilley here. They appear to be putting in a siding about miles from town as the crew files or 11 miles by their proposed line. This will be on Mr. Ruddy's place. They appear to be well posted regarding the silver mine on Mr. Ruddy's land, which has not as yet been worked owing to the flow of water. The vein of silver is from 15 to 10 inches and is at a depth of 38 feet. The railway people have already made overtures to Mr. Ruddy and Mr. Thomas for the purchase of their buildings.

Wigmore's Body Recovered.

The dead body of a man was found floating in the Red Deer near Brooks, a station about a hundred miles east of Calgary on the main line, on Monday. Believing it to be the body of Robert Wigmore, a wealthy rancher living on the Red Deer about 100 miles northeast of Calgary, a wire was sent to Jim Young, who was well known to be intimate friend of Wigmore, asking him to go down to Brooks and identify the body. Mr. Young went down on the east train sent a wire to his partner, Mr. L. G. Ruttle asking the latter to make arrangements with Messrs. Graham & Buscombe to send a casket to Brooks. This is all the wire contained, but it was sufficient to show that the body had been identified as that of the late Mr. Wigmore. The deceased was drowned in the Red Deer near his ranch on May 23, and since that date the body has floated considerably over a hundred miles down the river. Robert Wigmore, who was about forty years of age is best known in the west, and has lived in the country practically all his life. He was the son of Mr. Samuel Wigmore of Calgary, and was married to a sister of Mr. John Gibson also of this city.

Notes and Comments.

There is one city in the world to-day which bears an absolutely unique distinction, and that is Detroit—the "City of Pills." This year it is estimated that Detroit manufacturers will make three-quarters of the world's supply of pills, or over six billion pellets, of all sizes, shapes and colours, and intended for almost every ailment of mankind. America is the greatest pill-consuming nation on earth, the average consumption being something like sixty pills per capita per year.

Professor Thorndahlen, of the school of Art and Industry at Magdeburg has, which was formerly the library of the monastery 2146 of the rarest old printed sheets, the value of which he estimates at £3750. The Royal Library of Berlin has offered 600 for the sheets of 500 up to 1650, and declares that 200 of the newly discovered sheets are entirely unique.

A new railway is pointing its nose towards Crossfield, but up to date the Crossfield Board of Trade has preserved its patience and has not insisted upon the provincial government guaranteeing the bonds of the road, on the chance that it might get into that in a couple of weeks of time—Albertan.

The four-mill scheme which has been discussed in town this week is one of considerable merit, and the farmers would do well to give it consideration. It certainly would be better to have Crossfield land well irrigated into Crossfield flour right here in town than to pay freight on the way down east and then freight on the way back home, after it has been milled.

All honor to the council for their effort to improve the town. This week a considerable stretch of sidewalk has been laid down and some street grading done.

Sunny Alberta!

The Holy City.

Calvary music lovers were again given a rare treat, on Monday evening when the Holy City chorus, under the able leadership of F. B. Cooper, A. R. C. O., scored a lasting triumph. The church was crowded to the doors and a number was turned away owing to the lack of seating accommodation. The collection which amounted to $75 was in aid of the First Baptist Church organ fund, and the cause was worthy of even greater thank offering. The following will explain the scope of this wonderful composition.

The treatment of the subject is almost entirely effective, the most dramatic parts of the book, from which many of the numbers are taken, viz: the Vision of St. John, having already been treated in so masterly a manner by the great German composer, Louis Spohr in his oratorio, "The Last Judgment."

The first part of "The Holy City" was suggested to by the passages of Scripture, "Here have we no continuing city," "Thy kingdom come," and set forth the desire for a higher life, as expressed in the words, "My soul is thirsting for God," which desire is followed by other passages expressive of the higher life, such as "Eye hath not seen."

The second part was suggested by the words, "I saw a new Heaven and a new earth, for the first Heaven and the first earth," thus realizing the desire and promise contained in the first part.

With the exception of two hymns, a verse from Milton, and three verses from the Te Deum, the words are entirely Scriptural.

The tenor solo of John Scott showed an excellent range, while T. H. K. Magee was in splendid voice in his bass solo. The soprano solo, "These are they," by Miss Alexander, and the duet, "They shall hunger no more," by the Misses Alexander and Eastman were numbers that thrilled the large audience. Those who took part in the production were as follows:—Maudie Chandler, Cummer, Crandall, Houlton, Tolhurst, Crawford, Harrison, Robie, Marker. The Misses MacIntyre, Desman, Holiday, Alexander Croft, Thompson, Bolton, Todd, Griffin, English, Cunningham, Griffin, Eastman, Leeman, Messers, L. Cook, A. Stewart, H. A. Maclean, G. Avery, R. A. Jones, G. N. Gray, Neikle, Scott, W. Tuck, Wm. Justham, Watt, J. G. G. Coupland, W. Turner, L. H. Smith, W. J. Curry, J. Scotland, R. Bloomfield, J. H. Croft, Cunningham, Tolhurst, D. D. Harper.

Frank Wrigley merits the thanks of the entire assembly, with only half an hour's warning he came and presided most acceptably at the organ Mr. Bloomfield having sustained an injury that would not allow him to be present. The conductor Mr. Cooper, displayed marked ability in leading the large choir.

CRYSTAL GAZING.

If You Want to Try It, This Will Tell You How to Proceed.

Having satisfied myself that some people really would see hallucinatory pictures in a glass ball or in water, I examined the ethnological side of the question. I found by studying works of travel and anthropology that many savage and barbarous races gaze into water, polished metals, rock crystals and so on, for the purpose of seeing distant events, forecasting the future, detecting criminals, and so forth. It does not seem to me credible that so many and so widely separated peoples should agree with ancient Greeks and the races of western Europe in staring away if they did not see hallucinatory pictures. So I believe that some people do see them. Nor is this fact now denied by professors of psychology.

I have never been able to foresee from character, complexion, habit of mind and other indications what persons would perceive capable of detecting even fancy pictures in a glass ball. The best gazers of my acquaintance, those who hit on pictures coincidental with actual events unknown to them or with the secret thoughts of a companion, are both of them not unfamiliar with other occult experiences. But I have tried with the glass ball two or three other friends who have seen what were vulgarly called "ghosts" in lacinated houses, and in the glass ball they can see nothing, while people who never saw ghosts do see "coincident" pictures in a glass ball.

If any readers care to make experiments, they can begin by purchasing a ball, or, of course, a glass jug of water will do, or even a teaspoonful of ink, in some cases, but both are inconvenient and may spill. Having got the ball, it is best to go alone into a room, sit down with the back to the light, place the ball at a just focus in the lap on a dark dress or a dark piece of cloth, try to exclude reflections, think of anything you please and stare for five minutes, say, at the ball. That is all. If after two or three tries you see nothing in the way of pictures in the ball, you will probably never succeed—Andrew Lang.

SPECULATION.

One View of the Influence of the Stock Exchange.

Now, let us see what speculation does. What justification is there for it? Americans are known as the greatest of all speculators, not merely stock speculators or speculators in commodity futures, but as speculators generally, willing to take a risk, anxious to put their intelligence, their wit, their brain, brain and resources against the risks of fate. And we are growing steadily, expanding politically and intellectually, and who shall not say? Legitimate speculation, then, has some real merit, some proper function, some economic basis and excuse.

Some of the things that speculation on the stock exchanges and on the commodity exchanges make possible are or should be obvious. It divides or unifies the risks of trade, it varies at all times for securities or commodities, makes it possible for every one to know what the market value is of any security, of wheat, cotton, corn, oats, coffee, etc. It keeps pace with the increase in trade. Speculators are always ready to buy or sell at the market price. It follows the fluctuation in values and registers these changes in the market prices. It makes possible the development of the country along great broad lines. It is a means of warning those who are holders of securities that the value of their property is decreasing and makes it possible for them to take proper action in the premises. It is an insurance for the producer, the manufacturer, and vitalizes the farmer's credit. These things are overlooked when speculation is attacked, and that is because the gambling factor in the speculative market is more spectacular, more intensive and more susceptible to picturesque denunciation. Speculation begins certain and legitimate credit creation and which assume their present form simply because the speculative markets facilitate their development. It is not the market that will manifest themselves elsewhere, so less vicious and no more easy to remedy, to root out—John Paul Ryan in MacIntyre Magazine.

Ungratefulness is the very poison of mankind—Bridger.

Love Potions in the Middle Ages.
In a lecture delivered before the Association of Surgeons of Munich by Professor Klein on the subject of narcotics the speaker said that the process of reducing the sensibilities of patients with a view to making operations painless was known and practiced in the middle ages. The narcotic was known then as a "love potion" and recipes for compounding it have come to us from our ancestors. Professor Klein said that the story of "Tristan and Isolde" showed that the love potion was only a narcotic. Bishop Theodoros of Chervira wrote a prescription for a pain destroyer in the twelfth century which contained opium, morphine and hyacinth. A medical work printed in 1490 contains the first known treatise on inhalation, and the story related in the skin the soothing mixture which in 1400 was inhaled. A love potion prescribed in 1467 by Hieronymus of Brunschwig contained opium and a number of useless ingredients. Many of the mixtures known as love potions were lost in the course of the Thirty Years' war and were rediscovered later to serve again in the field of science.

ANY remedy that "benches" digestion strengthens the nerves. The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and indigestion is the result. Peruna is not a nerve nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion. Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result. In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear. Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant street, Watsonville, Cal., writes: "I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months. MANUFACTURED BY PERUNA DRUG MANUFACTURING COMPANY, COLUMBUS, OHIO, U. S. A."

WHEN FRED WAKES.

When Fred wakes, the day's bright eye has seen illumined the eastern sky. The busy swallow "hastens" the save. Are just astir, and through the leaves The morningephyr steals and quakes When Fred wakes.

When Fred wakes, her maiden charm Being started by the clock's alarm— She goes down in her brief attire And hustles up the kitchen fire. With busy arm the furnace shakes When Fred wakes.

When Fred wakes she starts a song And keeps it up the morning long. My pillow's wet with bitter tears. The vain for me to stop my ears. I even hear her rattling cokes When Fred wakes.

When Fred wakes she slams the door And kicks the cat across the floor. She drops the griddle on the sink. (She does it just for spite, I think.) The ridgepole of the building shakes When Fred wakes. —Chicago News.

Vitality at Low Ebb

The usual spring condition until Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

Vigor comes from good, red blood. Almost everybody's blood is thin and watery in the spring. Hence the tired, languid feelings, the loss of energy and ambition, and the general weakness of the bodily organs.

The appetite fails, digestion is imperfect, the filtering and excretory organs are irregular, and, in short, life is a burden instead of being the joy it should be.

You can feel yourself getting strength and vigor when Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used. The blood is made rich and pure, the appetite sharpened, digestion improves and every organ in the body feels the benefit of the rich, red, life-sustaining blood.

Stimulants give temporary relief. What is absolutely necessary is rich, red blood such as is formed by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

You can avoid all the discouragement and suffering, the pains and aches, the depressing effects of spring by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cts. at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. Portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on every box.

W. N. U. No. 689.

A New Lighthouse Plan. Germany has a new idea in light-houses. It consists in using a vertical shaft of light instead of a horizontal one.

By this means it is thought it will be visible for a greater distance than at present. At a hundred nautical miles out on the ocean the light along perhaps a hundred miles of coast will be visible to the navigator. It is calculated.

All the usual devices of dark and light intervals and change of colors can be applied to render the identification of the lights certain. Experiments with the system are to be made at once by the German naval authorities at Friedrichshort.—Washington Post.

The Hustling New World.

Describing the opening of the new tunnel under the Hudson river, M. Stephane Lauzanne in a cable message to the Paris Matin observes that the tube under the river cost $70,000,000 and was built in eight years by 6,500 men. He inquired of one of the high officials present how much time would be saved by the tunnel. "It will be an enormous saving," was the reply. "Passengers will gain nearly ten minutes." "All the difference between the old world and the new world," said Lauzanne, "lies in this reply. In America they spend $70,000,000 to save ten minutes; in France we would not spend $70 to save a day."

Pirates' Hoard Unearthed.

Treasure trove secured by Portuguese buccaners in bygone days has been revealed near the seaside village of Paradelha in a remarkable manner. The village is being slowly washed away by the action of the sea and buildings have been undermined from time to time.

A storm of more than usual severity swept the coast recently, and a portion of the foreshore at Paradelha was washed away.

At the base of the Secolo, treasure of various kinds was thus exposed to the astonished fishermen, who first believed that it had been sent to them miraculously.

There were many ancient gold and silver doubloons, jeweled crosses, finger rings of quaint antique pattern, earrings, gold and silver medallions, portions of silver censers, and other fragments of church plate.

All the people in the region hurried to the spot, armed with picks and spades, and have since been digging feverishly for treasure. Some of them have been rewarded with further discoveries. One man secured gold coins valued at $900. All the male inhabitants have deserted their work, and none of the fishermen has left port since the first discovery was made.

The Portuguese buccaners who harried the Spanish Main were in the habit of burying their booty along the coast, and the treasure unearthed at Paradelha undoubtedly forms a portion of one of their hoards.

SLEEPING DRAUGHTS AND SOOTHING MIXTURES.

A wise mother will never give her little one a sleeping draught, soothing mixture, or opiate if any kind, except upon the advice of a competent physician.

All these things contain deadly poison. When you give your baby or young child any of the Tablets you have the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine does not contain any particle of opiate or narcotic, and therefore cannot possibly do harm—but always do good. Mrs. Geo. W. Kempf, of Carleton Place, Ont., says: "I have given Baby's Own Tablets to my baby since he was born. He was a very small thin baby, but thanks to the Tablets he is now a big, fat, healthy boy." Send for a bottle of Baby's Own Tablets by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Upton Sinclair, in an address before a body of Chicago Socialists, said of charity:

"The average charity, the charity of the rich, seems rather futile to me. The rich oppress the poor eternally, and then they help them slightly."

"Why," said a man to this young lady, "do you always carry a bottle of liniment with you on your fishing excursions?"

"Why, I do," said the young lady.

"I am so sorry," she said plaintively, "for the poor little fish. And so I rub it on the back of the hook I always rub it out mouth with some liniment."

FOR 5 YEARS FACE AND SCALP ERUPTIONS EACH SPRING

Trusted Mary Levesque, 315 St. Station St., Hochberg, Montreal writes:—"I have found Zam-Buk an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. Up to this Spring I was bothered for almost five years with a rash, small pimples and some on my face and on the scalp thro' the hair. Nothing I used would clear this rash from the skin until I began using Zam-Buk. This salve has effectively and I believe permanently rid me of these unsightly pimples and sores from both scalp and face. I shall recommend Zam-Buk to all my friends."

For itching sores and all skin diseases Zam-Buk is without equal. It is good for hemorrhoids when well rubbed in. Files also paid in Zam-Buk 25 cents and 50 cents, jars of Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Kills as Targets.

Admiral Lambton at a certain highland society dinner told the following tale: When the Gordon highlanders were in Ladysmith the order came that officers were not to wear their swords.

This order was soon supplemented by another, by which all highland regiments were commanded to cover their kilts up, as it was thought that they served too well as targets for the enemy. Sir George White knew that such an order would not be popular. At last he thought of a way out of the difficulty. "Let them cover the fronts of the kilts up," he said. "The enemy will never see the other side!"—London Standard.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

In an amateur play a fugitive from justice was supposed to have escaped from his pursuers by concealing himself under the table. The table was small and the terrified fugitive somewhat long.

The commander of the pursuing party rushed on the stage and fell over the legs of the man he was searching for.

Picking himself up and ludicrously rubbing his shins, he convulsed his face by exclaiming in true dramatic style:

"Ha! ha! The dastardly villain has eluded us again!"

20th Century "Football."

Didsbury Sharply Criticized
By a Spectator

Last Saturday the undefeated team left Crossfield on the afternoon train and it was quite a pleasure to one and all to think that the club had gained such sound support from the inhabitants of our town also from the farmers and ranchers around. This was proved by the crowd that followed the boys to the seat of war. Unfortunately the weather had made the ground very slippery and the players could not get their footing so neither team could show themselves to advantage. As one of the spectators I must say that it was not a very interesting game to watch. What with the rain and the players not being able to make sure of their kick we consequently went down by two goals to nil, but we are of the opinion that it was not by a better team we were beaten, but by the wretched state of the ground.

COMMUNICATION.

While in Didsbury on Saturday I witnessed a football match between Didsbury and Crossfield teams. A person could hardly call it a "game," but rather a rough and tumble scrap on the part of Didsbury.

Didsbury is a thriving little town but they have the dirtiest grounds, the dirtiest football players, and the meanest referee on the line. Of course the grounds might have been in a better condition had the rain stayed off, but that should not prevent a clean game as far as sociability is concerned. Someone must expect to get scratched a little while playing a match game, but there is no reason or sense in kicking shins or catching hold of players because he can run a little faster, nor is there any sense in players trying to pick a scrap with an opponent.

The referee may be a player and understand the rules of football, but before the next game is played, he had better throw himself in the creek and say "Here goes nothing." What did you do with your whistle Mr. Referee? If you haven't got wind enough to blow one, why don't you get a clean drum or a horse fiddle? But after this, watch your game and see that your men are clean about it. Examining their boots and rule off every man that has base ball-calls on them. Do justice to your neighboring towns, and the population at large will think more of you.

Just a word about Crossfield and I am through. Crossfield football players can play a clean game, and if they are defeated they say nothing about it. They can play with a team like Olds and laugh at the same time, and Olds knows how to treat other football teams white, which Didsbury knows nothing about. Before I do I would like to bring one more thought back to Didsbury.

Boys--Do not again talk like you did on Saturday night before the train left you. Crossfield colours are on top yet and are going to stay there. We expect a little childish talk from school children, but not from pieces of humanity that call themselves gentlemen.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your kindness, and remaining as ever a SPECTATOR.
